COMMITTEE TO SEEK LOCATION FOR THE SHEDS

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF PENSA-COLA CARNIVAL ASSOCIATION HELD MEETING YESTERDAY MORNING AND APPOINTED A COMMITTEE FOR THIS PURPOSE.

To look out for a suitable site for the Carnival sheds, a committee was appointed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pensacola Carnival Association held for that purpose yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The following were appointed on the committee: Ed Forchheimer, Harry L. Brooks, M. E. Clark, Chas. Merritt and E. L. Reese.

The committee will endeavor to find a suitable location and will then report back to a meeting of the committee, to be called by the president of the Association when the committee is ready to report.

The necessity for new sheds for the housing of the floats is caused by the owners of the present site, the G. F. & A. Railroad Company, needing the sheds now used by the Association. Theodore Weber was present at the meeting yesterday and discussed with the directors the matter of floats for the next carnival, but it was decided not to take any definite action in this matter until the site for the sheds had been settled upon.

Before adjourning the directors, in an informal way, discussed a number of matters of interest to the Association.

Flying Men Fall

victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles just like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that as T. D. Peablies, Henry, Tenn., proved. "Six bottles of Electric Bitters," he writes, "did more to give me new strength and good appetite than all other stomach remedies I used." So they help everybody. It's folly to suffer when this great remedy will help you from the first dose. Try it. Only 50 cents at W. A. D'Alemberte's.

Visitor—Is your boy in college, Mr. Cornsoll?
Farmer—I can't say exactly. He's in their football eleven, their rowing crew and jimmyzeem, but whether he's ever in their college is more'n I kin find out by his letters.

She—If you could have only one wish, what would it be?
He—It would be that—that—oh, if I only dared to tell you what it would be.

She—Well, go on. Why do you suppose I brought up the wishing subject?
—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Women are braver than men," said Mrs. Nagg.
"In what way?" demanded Mr. Nagg.
"You never heard of a man marrying a woman to reform her," replied Mrs. Nagg.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hicks—How is Marcella getting along with his hairdressing parlors?
Wicks—Busted. He was doing well, but his customers all quit him when he put in a wagon service and advertised "Goods called for and delivered."

PRESERVING TIME—IN THE STONE AGE AND TODAY

ON THE SPUR OF A MOMENT

By Roy K. Moulton.

According to Uncle Abner.
A good many of the "level headed" fellows you hear so much about are only flat heads.

It is getting so a political banquet is about as popular as an epidemic of smallpox.

A pretty woman kin do more tricks with a jury than a monkey kin with a coconut.

There isn't any use in going a mile or two down the road to look for trouble. Hank Tumms went and paid $4 for a medical book, and when he read it he found he had every symptom of every disease mentioned and he is laid up in bed for the first time in his life.

One thing agin' havin' a suit of clothes made by a tailor is that he never throws in a pair of suspenders. Every time some fellows tell a story they go back to the time of Adam and after gettin' through with the creation, the crusades and the French and American revolutions and everybody has gone to sleep, they tell the point of the joke and wonder why nobody laughs at it.

Among the Missing.
Old fashioned elastic sleeve holders. Bulldog shoes. Wristlets. Men's garters. Disc music boxes. Niagara Falls transparencies. Wax flowers. Views of the World's Fair. Old fashioned mustard plasters. Initials on shirt sleeves. Raincoats with capes. Crullers.

From Our London Correspondent.
London is a large city which covers all of England and portions of Scotland, Wales, and Ireland. It has a town hall, a good band and orchestra, excellent church and a theater which is open every night or so. There is hardly a night but what there is some sort of show at the opera house.

There are no tall buildings in London. I inquired about this and was told that it was due to the fact that the sky was so close to the ground most of the time that anything higher than five stories would be in another world.

The climate of London is hard to describe. In fact, they have none. All they have is weather and they have this all the time. It is so foggy most of the time that a man can walk home with tuppence worth of tripe for lunch without being talked about. I believe it has even been possible in some cases for a gentleman to help another gentleman's wife across the thoroughfare without starting a scandal and, when it comes to dodging creditors, the London fog is the greatest invention that has ever been accomplished.

Oftentimes men are obliged to stay down in the city two or three weeks at a time because they can't find their way home. They have been making this ancient and bewhiskered excuse stick for centuries. England has some advantages over America. The fog is one. There are nights when a fog like that would be worth a good deal to some men I know.

The Swatting Maid.
There was a maid in our town, And she was wondrous wise; She jumped into the dining room And swatted all the flies.

And when the dining room was cleaned Of flies, she got to itchin' To swat some more and so she killed All that were in the kitchen.

And when she cleaned the kitchen up She felt quite acrobatic, And with a mop she went atop To swat 'em in the attic.

And when she had the attic clear, No one did have to tell 'er That she should finish up the job And swat 'em in the cellar.

And when she'd swatted every fly And worked with might and main, The screen door was left open and The house was full again.

The Weather.
We're sorry, Mr. Weather Man, but we must make a kick. We're surely growing weary of the dope. You're handing us in bunches, and you'd better stop it quick, Before our state of mind is beyond hope.

We are much obliged to start out in the morning with a bunch Of clothing that would stoke a city store, Providing that we take the morning paper's daily hunch About your weather prophecies galore.

We take a cravenette along, and e'en a diving suit, A linen duster and a palm leaf fan; A heavy winter overcoat and sealskin cap to boot; A parasol to keep away the tan. A pair of woolen leggin's and a Panama chapeau.

And seven suits of varied underwear Whenever we brave the elements and set about to go And make a friendly visit anywhere.

Whenever we read your bulletins we all bemoan our fate.

It certainly upsets a fellow's brain. To figure out the mixture that you hand us when you state, "The weather will be fair, unless it rains."

You add it will be warmer some, but colder yet in spots, And every last prediction reads the same.

In the ward of the incurables we'll all be havin' cots Unless you promise to cut out the game.

To the People of West Florida:

We have established an office in Chicago for the purpose of giving true and correct information about West Florida. Those who have large tracts of Timber Lands or Cut-over Lands for colonization should list their lands with us. Companies selling small tracts to homeseekers should make arrangements with us to help them in settling up the land. We are doing a straight business and do not desire any business that can not stand a thorough investigation. We will also handle any other business entrusted to us. If you are shipping produce to Chicago and want us to see that you get fair treatment we are here to serve you. Any city or town desiring representation in Chicago should make arrangements with us. Write us your wants.

Democrats in Congress Made Good Record.

Not for years has any party made a better record than the Democratic party made in the session of congress just closed.

Under the leadership of Speaker Clark and Mr. Underwood, the party broke the record for wise and patriotic leadership, choosing the tariff as the object of most of the attack.

With the aid of a number of public spirited Progressive Republicans, a great deal of this constructive legislation passed the senate also.

These measures would have become laws and the country would have been reaping the benefits of them, but for the vetoes interposed by President Taft.

It is not the fault of the Democrats in congress or in the country at large, neither is it the fault of the progressive Republican members of congress that President Taft took such a reactionary stand, especially after his statement that the tariff needed revision downward and after the Republican platform of four years ago declared for a more equitable revision of the tariff.

But if Mr. Taft, Mr. Roosevelt or any other high protectionist is ever elected president again it will be the fault of the people casting the ballots.

However, the work done by the Democrats in congress is not lost to the country, even if most of the constructive legislation has been vetoed. There is scarcely a doubt that the next congress will be Democratic again, so far as the lower house is concerned and there will be sufficient Democratic gains in the senate to cause that body to pass almost any meritorious measure with the aid of the independent Republicans of progressive tendencies.

The program has now been mapped out and after next March the new congress can and doubtless will begin just where this one left off and will give the country the benefit of a just and equitable system of revenue laws, without any protective fetters of attachments.

For years it has been a favorite cry of Republicans, that the Democratic party was neither progressive nor constructive. It alleged that the Democrats composed merely a party of negation and opposition. The hue and cry was raised that the Democratic party was made up of the malcontents, the soreheads and the rag tag and bobtail of the country.

If such suspicion ever existed, the great constructive work done by the last congress under the wise guidance of Speaker Clark and Mr. Underwood surely removed it.

The Democratic party is the party of advancement, reform, progress and construction. Its record proves it. The people will ratify that record next November.

Great American Hen Coming Into Her Own.

The Philadelphia North American, one of the great newspapers of this continent, is finding time between its spasms of eulogistic advocacy of the Bull Moose, to inaugurate, pay for and carry out a great egg-laying contest. The first contest is about to close and was so successful in all its details, that it is to be continued for another year.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
